

Optimal control problems and some applications to inverse problems

Phan Xuan Thanh

Hanoi University of Science and Technology

Abstract

In this talk we discuss the application of FEM/BEM to optimal control problems subject to PDEs. We derive the unique solvability and stability of the numerical scheme. As a second part, we investigate some inverse problems which can be solved by the variational methods coupled with the conjugate gradient methods. Numerical examples are given to confirm the analytical results.